About Elston

Elston Turner is a native Knoxville who was a star basketball player at Austin-East High School and Ole Miss. An eight year NBA career followed, including as a teammate to Michael Jordan with the Chicago Bulls. After retiring as a player, he became an assistant coach and is currently with the Sacramento Kings.

His desire is that young men and women who participate in the camp would develop skills and habits which will help them athletically and grow to be responsible adults who love Jesus Christ and have a heart for their own neighborhoods and city.

How You Can Help

The Elston Turner Basketball Camp, July 24 - 29 at Austin-East High School, offers our city's young people a safe place to go, and a place that encourages healthy minds, bodies, and most importantly – hearts. The camp is funded through the generosity of those in and around Knoxville. A special dinner event featuring Elston will be July 27 at Vine Middle Magnet School.
